

Puffed Sorghum

Product Description:

Sorghain puffed sorghum is a natural ingredient, made in Australia from locally grown sorghum that is free of any genetic modification. High in protein and other nutritional components, it is an environmentally friendly, healthy, and cost-effective alternative to other commercially available puff products.

Product Value Benefits:

Sorghain puffed sorghum provides food manufacturers the opportunity to incorporate a cost-effective source of high protein puffed grains into innovative and healthy food products.

Product Use & Application:

Sorghain puffed sorghum can be incorporated into processed foods to enhance nutritional properties and/or serve as a functional ingredient. Puffing of the sorghum creates a light and crunchy texture, making it ideal for inclusion in a whole-grain bread mix, muesli bar, breakfast cereal or as a stand-alone snack.
